THE PROPOSED RAILROAD.

Surveyors Now Running Final Lines Through Garrard County.

Within Our Grasp.

As stated briefly in the last issue of THE RECORD, the Southern Railway has a full corps of surveyors in Garrard making a final survey for the new line. They located first at Burgin and ran two lines to the river. Today, Thursday, they will pitch camp at Bryantsville and work in Garrard. The party has orders to run to Lancaster, and then by the most feasible route to Jellico, where their southern lines terminate.

In an interview, the chief engineer said the connection between Burgin and Jellico was certain to be constructed, but just what route it would take he could not say. One thing was certain, he said, and that was GARRARD WOULD HAVE TO GIVE THE RIGHT OF WAY.

When our people think of the many advantages to be derived by ALL citizens from this road, we do not believe that any land owner, over which it passes, will want more pay than the actual damage to him. We do not believe we have any citizens in the county who would covet, especially when the money to pay for land is to be made up among our own people. Not one penny of it will come off the railroad company, as our people give the right of way. The new constitution does not permit our voting a tax for this purpose, consequently the money will have to be raised by private subscription. Many men have signified their intention to contribute liberally, and there will be no trouble in raising the money, provided no one wants exorbitant, unjust and unreasonable prices for his land. As above stated, we do not believe we have any men in Garrard county so narrow-minded as to demand more money than a thing is worth, simply because he believes he has the upper hand and can set his own figures. Steps are now being taken to ascertain what each property owner will do in the matter, and then work of raising the money will begin.

Some people may think this road is bound to come here. In this thought you are sadly off. The people of Garrard once thought they had the Cincinnati Southern, and were so confident that land owners put up exorbitant figures, the citizens sat flat on their pants and did nothing and the people of Boyle hustled a little and got the road. Another case was when the L. & N. was built. The people of Boyle thought the road was bound to come to Danville and refused to offer any inducements. The result of this was the company ordered its surveyors to run the line just close enough to Danville for the people there to hear the engine whistle, and the road was built to Shelby City.

Our people should awaken to the importance of securing this line of road. It means two routes for freight and passenger travel to Cincinnati and Louisville, beside a direct line to the best coal and timber land in Kentucky. Farmers can save enough in freight on their stock, grain, hemp, etc., to more than pay their taxes, to say nothing of the money saved on coal and lumber sent here from the mountains. Now is the time to show your public spiritedness, gentlemen. If you let this opportunity slip by, never say another word about high freight, poor connections or hard times.

A meeting of the Commercial Club was held Tuesday night and a committee, consisting of Capt. Herndon and Hon. R. H. Tomlinson, was appointed to follow the line of survey as it is made, and see the land owners immediately to ascertain what they will ask for the right of way. As soon as this is done, the Club will then go to work to raise the money with which to pay the damages. If a property owner is unreasonable, the people can take the matter into the courts and let a jury determine the damage, but as the money comes off our home people, we believe no property owner will be unreasonable in his demands.

Our citizens have taken hold of the matter in earnest, and are going at it in a business-like way.

Owing to his large practice, Dr. J. B. Kinnaid has sold the telephone exchange, and it will be incorporated under the name of "The Lancaster Telephone Co." with A. H. Bastin, Dr. Kinnaid and James Maret directors. The enterprise still remains a local institution with some of our citizens connected with the property interests. It is the intention of the company, to make extensive improvements and fit up the most complete exchange possible. The enterprise is one of the best our town has ever had, and justly merits the support it receives.

Death of Wallace Embry Elkin.

A telegram was received yesterday by Lancaster relatives announcing the death of Wallace Embry Elkin, which occurred in Louisville Tuesday. He was the son of Garrard Elkin, formerly of this county, who left here several years ago and resided in Louisville. The family is widely connected in this and adjoining counties. Young Elkin was well known in Louisville business circles, and was a man of energy and fine business qualifications. The remains were interred at Richmond yesterday afternoon.

Waterworks Meeting.

A meeting of the City Council was held Friday night to hear expressions from the taxpayers regarding waterworks. The feeling was unanimously in favor of putting in a plant, but just how to go about ascertaining cost, was a question which required much discussion. It was finally agreed to advertise for bids, reserving the right to reject any and all propositions.

J. C. Thompson and J. E. Stormes were appointed to attend to the matter, and the ad. appears in today's Record and will also be sent to a leading eastern paper. It has been estimated that forty to fifty fire plugs will be needed. These, together with the amount of water needed for private consumption will make a plant pay pretty well. It was also decided at this meeting that the town reserve the right to buy the plant in 5, 10 or 20 years, which is a mighty good idea.

The proposition to put in waterworks is meeting opposition, just as did every other improvement we have made. The electric lights, telephones, and in fact everything else in the improvement line, was drenched with cold water, but those who hustle have become used to the kicking and it does not now amount to much. It begins to look like the waterworks are an assured fact, and the more the people investigate and think over the matter the more enthusiastic they become.

Narrow Escape.

Tuesday night, just before the Commercial Club met, Prof. Postel and Raymond Haselden noticed smoke coming from the City Court room. A hasty investigation showed that a dust spit box had become ignited from a cigar stub and had burned a hole in the floor. Instead of raising an alarm the two gentlemen quietly procured a couple of buckets of water and drowned out the flame. Had they been ten minutes later the fire would have been beyond control, and our city court building, and, in all probability, the Court House would have gone to ashes. A saw dust spit box has often caused fires which were credited to incendiaries and "spontaneous combustion."

Democratic Convention.

The Democratic county convention drew a tremendous crowd to town Saturday, but everything passed off harmoniously and pleasantly. The backers of each gubernatorial candidate were at work early in the day and some tall hustling was done. All were confident until noon, when it was whispered that the Goebel and Stone men had a card up their sleeve. Chairman Geo. T. Farris called the meeting to order at 2 o'clock and all hands were shown in the selection of permanent chairman, the Goebel and Stone men voting for Mr. Farris. Several rousing speeches were made, and the Hardin men made a strong fight to get into the chairman, but the committee on resolutions brought in a report recommending that the vote be divided equally between Goebel and Stone. The following delegates and alternates were appointed:

J. A. Doty, T. A. Elkin, J. I. Hamilton, Geo. T. Farris, Letcher Owsley, Thos. Dunn. The alternates are John Burnside, R. E. McRoberts, J. E. Robinson, John M. Farra, T. Cole Gully and W. B. Burton.

Owsley-Hamilton.

County Attorney Letcher Owsley and Miss Haille Hamilton surprised their many friends Saturday evening by driving to Danville and being made man and wife. The couple has been quite devoted for some time, and while there was a general belief they would marry, yet no one thought they would so completely steal the march. Late in the afternoon they engaged a surrey and buggy. As pre-arranged, they met Miss Florence Harris, and Messrs Joe B. Haselden and Owen Shugars. The party went to Mrs. Kauffman's and got Eld. George Gowen, who accompanied them to Danville and said the ceremony. The entire party then returned to Lancaster, where the bride's mother served an elegant lunch. Mrs. Owsley is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Hamilton, proprietor of the Hamilton House. She is a young lady of beauty and many good traits. It is needless for us to say anything of Letcher, as everybody knows him, and everybody is his friend. He has a bright future before him and we sincerely hope the pathway of the newly wedded pair will be strewn with roses. They have taken rooms at the Hamilton House. The bride received a number of nice presents from her mother and brothers, Jim, Clay, and Will.

Teaching Boys a Trade.

Why is it that there is such a repugnance on the part of parents to putting their sons to a trade? A skilled mechanic is an independent man. Go where he will his craft will bring him

support. He has literally his fortune in his own hands. He need ask favors of none. Yet ambitious parents—ambitious that their sons should "rise in the world" as they say—are more willing that they should study for a profession, with the chances of even moderate success heavily against them, or running the risk of spending their manhood in the ignoble task of retailing dry goods, or of toiling laboriously

at the accountant's desk, than learn a trade which would bring them manly strength, health and independence.

In point of fact, the method they choose is the one least likely to accomplish the advancement aimed at; for the supply of candidates for positions as

"errand boys," dry goods clerks, and kindred occupations, is notoriously

overstocked; while on the other hand,

the demand for really skilled mechanics of every description, is as notorious as the supply. The crying need is for skilled labor; and that father who nego-

tiates to provide his son with a useful

trade, and to see that he thoroughly

masters it, does him a grievous wrong,

and runs the risk helping, by so much,

to increase the stock of idle and dependent, if not vicious, members of society. It is stated in the report of the Prison Association, lately issued,

that of 14,500 prisoners, confined in the penitentiaries of 30 States, in 1867, 77

per cent., or over 10,000 of the number

STATE NEWS PICK-UPS.

MRS. TOM BAKER.

She Will Take Her Children and Settle in the Indian Territory—A Peaceful Outlook in My County.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 21.—R. R. Lucas, of Manchester, who is here as a delegate to the democratic convention, says the Baker-Howard feud is at an end. He says that Mrs. Tom Baker has decided to go to her father, who is a prominent farmer in Indian territory. She will take her children with her.

Dr. Lucas declares that the men who have been corralled and armed in the mountains have laid down their weapons and returned to their homes and to their work. A better and more secure feeling prevails throughout the terror-stricken section. Everybody now appears to be satisfied to let the law take its course, and the members of the factions are disposed to have peace.

Leading citizens, who have taken no part in the feud, are now endeavoring to get the Whites, Howards, Bakers, Philpotts and others involved in the fighting to agree that they will do all in their power to prevent further bloodshed. These men are said to take kindly to this idea and when each faction is assured that no one of its side will receive harm at the hands of the enemy, it is thought peace will be permanently restored.

BRADLEY MEANS BUSINESS.

The Governor Is Determined to Restore Peace in Clay County Regardless of Cost.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 18.—Gov. Bradley has not the power to declare martial law in the county of Clay, where a reign of terror exists as the result of the assassination of Tom Baker last Saturday, but he intends to restore order there, regardless of cost. The governor received a letter Friday afternoon from Circuit Judge Eversole denying that he had, as reported, adjourned court at Manchester because of the fear of personal violence. The judge says that court was adjourned because he realized that justice could not be meted out with affairs in such chaotic condition. He says that he will hold a special session in Clay within the next few weeks. The troops will probably be sent back then.

If order can not be restored and those under indictment tried, a special session of the legislature would be the only remedy. Under the present Kennedy law the governor can not even appoint a special judge until the regular judge has refused to sit and the circuit clerk notifies him that the members of the bar have failed to elect. In Clay county the circuit clerk is a member of the White faction, and, if Judge Eversole should decline to sit, he would probably have the selection of his successor. If an extra session were held the county of Clay would either be abolished and divided up among adjoining counties, or the governor would be given power to appoint special judges at will and special grand juries from other counties to go to a lawless town and investigate and find the lawlessness.

The governor Friday night decided to be false the special dispatch sent out from Lexington Thursday that he was equipping soldiers in Eastern Kentucky to go to Harlan county. The condition there is much better than it is in Clay county.

Reward for Baker's Murderer.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 21.—Gov. Bradley spent Tuesday morning in conference with Clay county citizens, discussing matters relative to the feud. Judge Eversole stated he would vacate the bench and the governor will call a special term to try the two Bakers. Gov. Bradley will send troops to attend the court. The special judge has not yet been appointed. The governor has offered a reward for the arrest and conviction of the unknown slayer of Tom Baker.

Told the Soldiers.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 18.—Col. Williams Friday night paid the 100 members of the Kentucky regiment, state guard, who were on duty in Manchester last week. The farmers are really getting behind on the score of humane treatment of horses. The city horsemen of all classes now lead the way in abolishing the cruel check rein and the useless blind bridle. The handsome carriage teams, heavy draft horses, express and cab animals almost universally have the free use of their heads and eyes. The human societies have had much to do with this.

An exchange knows a farmer who plants onions and potatoes in alternate rows, the onions being so strong that they bring the eyes to the eyes of the potatoes in such volumes that the roots of the vines are kept moist and a big crop raised in spite of the drought. After all he hardly equals the Jellico man who crossed his honey bees with lightning bugs so they could see to work at night.—Livingston Colonel.

Press dispatches announced that the farmers of the United States, especially those interested in corn and wheat growing, are working up a combination having for its object the storing and holding of their grain indefinitely, so that it can be placed on the market when prices are satisfactory. The plan has been receiving attention through the grain and other farmers' organization for several years. If co-operation of the farmers generally can be secured, they can, to a large extent, control the grain market. Such a movement should receive the co-operation of all farmers, but any arrangement made for storing should specially provide that millers should not be allowed to grind it up without paying for it, as was so generally done with the last two crops.—Farmers Home Journal.
